Did you know?

W. Granowski is a one stop shop catering to all your surface preparation needs; from design and manufacture of industrial cleaning machines to supply of spare parts and abrasive. Over the past 80 years, W. Granowski has prided itself on quality design and workmanship and can design and build an air or airless abrasive blasting machine or a degreasing machine to suit your specific application requirements.

Granowski machines have proven to be cost effective and reliable with several blast machines manufactured in the 1960's currently in operation! W. Granowski has installed and commissioned abrasive blast machines all over the world using our team of qualified tradesmen. Many of our employees have been with the company for more than a decade. The key to successfully creating such a loyal team is maintaining a work environment where people are happy, valued as part of the team and respected for their skills.

Core Products

W. Granowski produces standard and custom made machines to suit any surface preparation application and component, from deburring or descaling castings to etching concrete slabs. A Granowski machine can be a stand alone unit or can be made to fit into your assembly line.

Over the decades W. Granowski has been servicing Australian heavy industry, such as automotive, aerospace, diecasting and foundry, with air and airless blast and peening machines, degreasing and hot wash machines, and foundry sand mixing, cooling and reclaiming equipment. Customers include BHP, OneSteel, Alcoa, Boyne Smelters, Kempe, Ford, Holden, Queensland Rail, Tomago Aluminium, Nissan Castings and Hawker De Havilland. There are hundreds of Granowski machines used today in Australia and around the world.
